WORLD ORDER CRUSADE

In Erie today more than 300 Methodists from this end of the state are gathering for a symposium on "The New World Order Crusade." Among the speakers will be Bishop James H. Straughn, of Pittsburgh; Bishop Paul B. Kern, of Nashville; Mrs. J. D. Bragg, national president of the WSCS and D. W. F. Quillen, field director of the Board of Missions.

TIMBERS IN PLANT

Mrs. Irene Walters, Irvine correspondent of Times-Mirror calls attention to the fact that in an address by James Kannen, he referred to the timbers used in the building of the first plant of the National Forge and Ordnance Company. Mrs. Walters recalls that some of the timber used came from the old Pennsylvania House and its barn which stood four miles below Irvine. The timbers were big hand hewn affairs and were in a wonderful state of preservation. The Pennsylvania House was built in 1858 and the house contained 25 rooms and the barn was a large one. Mrs. Walters also states that she mailed the article to a relative in Italy.

Young Woman Dies Suddenly While at Work

Services in memory of Miss Minna Elsholtz, aged 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Elsholtz, 1128 Sechrist street, who died suddenly while at work as a waitress at the Frances Lunch, in North Warren, Saturday morning shortly before ten o'clock, will be held from the Lutz funeral home at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. H. A. Rinard, of the First Lutheran church, will officiate and interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

Roberta Harris, 15, of South South street, this city, told Coroner Ed Lowrey that she was in the lunch room at the time she said that Miss Elsholtz had been chatting with her and finally turned toward the rear of the establishment remarking that she had a table to wipe off. The next thing that happened, Miss Harris stated, she heard a thud and turned to see the waitress lying on the floor. She summoned Mr. and Mrs. Lundberg and they in turn called a North Warren physician. It was thought at first that Miss Elsholtz may have fainted and the resuscitator was called. It was rushed to the scene in charge of Lieut. Ed Springer and Fireman Charles Engard, who worked over the young woman for half an hour before the girl was pronounced dead. A certificate of death from acute dilatation of the heart was issued.

During the investigation it was learned that in October Miss Elsholtz applied for employment in a local plant, but was rejected because of a heart condition. In the meantime a brother of the young woman, Walter Elsholtz, an attendant at the Warren State Hospital was notified and was present during the time the firemen worked over the body. Later he accompanied an official to his home to break the news to his mother. It was stated that Miss Elsholtz was known to have a weak heart.

The unfortunate young woman was born in Cleveland April 26, 1921, and was brought here by her parents some years ago. She was well known to a host of friends in Warren and North Warren who are grieved to learn of her unexpected passing. Besides the parents she leaves the following brothers: Walter, at home; William, in the armed forces in England; Addison and Raymond at home.

Dimes March Real Success In Every Way

The sum of $560 seems to fall far short of an announced goal of $1,500 for 1944 infantile paralysis work, but that amount realized from local street sales of "March of Dimes" tags here Saturday is $90 more than the 1943 Tag Day brought in for the sponsoring Zonta Club.

This amount is from local tag sales only; the tag days and solicitations in rural communities not having been completed. Several towns had tag days on Saturday and others were obliged to postpone them until this week because of much illness among workers.

These sums, together with many special gifts which are always received by the Warren county chapter and special sales in Library and Columbia theatres this week should bring the total well over last year's $1,200 and, it is hoped, well over the goal set for this year.

THREE HOUR HIKE
Only five members joined the Allegheny Hiking Club journey yesterday afternoon, but they had a delightful three hour winter hike. Driving to a point on the Hill Run road about half a mile beyond the concrete pavement they walked the northwest from there up to an old woods road to the Sentinel Rock area and the turned south across the Schule farm and through the woods to Rocky Gap, returning by the black-top road on Route 337 to the starting point and walking a little more than six miles. The hikers and other friends decorated the trip an especially pretty one. Those on yesterday's hike were Ike Reed, Catherine Reed, Elmer Frederickson, R. W. Mackay, and Robert Whitehill.

Christmas In Italy Described By Local Boy in Letter Home

Excerpts from a letter received by Mrs. George Hinton, 20 Elm street, from her son, George, in Italy, are indicative of what probably happened to a good many Warren boys in service this Christmas. He writes:

"25 December 1943 — Merry Christmas: I suppose you understand just how hard it is to feel like Christmas here. Some of the fellows looked all over to find something that looked like a Christmas tree and finally, yesterday, one of the fellows found a little evergreen of some kind or other, about 2 feet high, and brought it back roots and all.

"Among the packages we've received here for Christmas was one full of Christmas ornaments that one of the officers received, so we stuck them on the tree. Then there was all the colored paper and string from the various packages, so, all in all, it's very pretty.

"Then we had a sock for the Colonel—and what a sock! It was fully 3 feet long and must have held a peck of various articles.

"I remember how at home Christmas morning was one morning that I could get up early—well, this morning I got up at 2 o'clock but it wasn't because I wanted to see what Santa brought me. I had to. I had to pull my shift at the C. P. At 6 o'clock I started waking people up and it was still as black as it could be and cold. Since then I've had my Christmas breakfast, which was an event in that we each had one genuine fried egg. About 8 o'clock the sun finally came over the top and struck our valley and the fact it shone at all is encouraging. As you may have guessed, we aren't exactly having a white Christmas but I'm not exactly sorry either. Right now I'm busily looking forward to our Christmas dinner, which is going to be turkey and all the fixins. Our battery has an exceptional kitchen and our Thanksgiving dinner was something to write home about—and I believe I did."

Winner of Free Scholarship In Aviation Training Chosen

The staff of the Times-Mirror was congratulated today by L. E. Johnsen, representative of International Correspondence Schools on the occasion of their awarding a free scholarship in aviation to a deserving Civil Air Patrol Cadet.

The fortunate winner of this course of training was William D. Smith, 3 W. Wayne street, a senior in the Warren High School and an officer in the Civil Air Patrol Cadets.

Commenting on the award, Mr. Johnsen pointed out that one of the objectives of post-war vocational training is closer integration with life.

Cadet Smith's sister enrolled about a year ago with ICS in airplane drafting and has just received a promotion in the engineering drafting department of the Thomas Flexible Coupling Company.

Citing the growing acceptance of the correspondence methods of training adults, Mr. Johnsen predicts that unless they study now, both service men and displaced industrial workers may not be ready for promotion to more responsible positions in post-war development.

Now is the time when most workers should prepare for post-war positions rather than wait until they are asked if they think they might qualify. Thus, self confidence is another by-product of individual study, Mr. Johnsen concludes.

LEAP-FROG LANDING
(Written for The Associated Press and Times-Mirror by DeWitt MacKenzie)

Forecasting the outcome of a dangerous and delicate amphibious invasion, while it still is in its early stages, is like counting chickens before they're hatched, but we are observing moderation in saying that the Allied landing on the Italian coast below Rome has been going well—indeed much more smoothly than even the most optimistic could have expected.

Our side has been both smart and lucky. Our success in getting ashore with virtually no opposition Saturday is, of course, a tribute to the Allied command in concealing the exact sector of the projected landing from the Germans. But it's more than that. It signifies a general weakening of Nazi resistance in the face of the growing United Nations onslaught from all directions.

There's no way of concealing the preparations for an amphibious operation of this size from the enemy. The big fleet alone would give that away. The Hitlerites knew an attack was boiling up. However, they didn't know where the Allies were going to hit.

Still the significant fact that as a normal measure of precaution they weren't prepared for an assault at such a strategic spot as we chose. The answer undoubtedly is that they don't have sufficient forces to safeguard all potential invasion points.

The ring of disaster is closing in on Hitler. He is being pushed to the limit to defend himself against the furious onslaught of the Red armies on the long Russo-German battle-front. The Balkans also are straining his resources, and he has to keep western Europe manned for the final reckoning which is hurtling down on him. He no longer is capable of throwing into the Italian fighting all the power he needs—or into the fighting anywhere else, for that matter.

NATIONAL SERVICE

Secretary of War Stimson made an eloquent plea for a national service law before the Senate Military Affairs Committee. The accomplishments he urged upon the country are unassailable. But there is still reasonable doubt that national service would attain them.

Mr. Stimson asked an end to strikes and a quickened sense of national responsibility as a minimum contribution to our fighting men's morale. But England's experience with national service has shown that strikes do not end under this system of universal draft. Rather, English strikes have increased each year since the system has been in force, and that country now has a proportionately greater number of strikes than we do.

The secretary said that national service would increase our production effectiveness and minimize turnover, and that the coming year would call for greater production effort. The War Manpower Commission, however, already has machinery for regulation turnover and efficiency, and the commission has already sealed down its future manpower needs by 600,000 from the original estimate.

The regimentation of military life is an unfortunate but necessary consequence of war. To regiment civilian life further would, we believe, rather lower the morale of the country than raise the morale of the fighting forces. Further, it would seem that better application of present controls, not more controls, is the answer to our major production problems.

A FIT PARENT TALKS

"I don't care if it is only quarter to three" a woman was heard to say at a bus stop. "My kids get out of school at half past and I ain't goin' to have 'em hellin' around for an hour or two after that."

Here was a mother with the right idea. When her children got home from school they were going to have cookies and apples and maybe some milk, and play for an hour in sight of their own home, and then they were going to come in, and two would help her get supper while one did some cleaning or ironing and the fourth did music practice. That one would help with dishes afterward while the others practised or did homework, says an exchange.

That parent's language may have been a little rough, but people who heard her felt sure those kids were going to be kept busy on Saturday, and go to a show only after the chores were done. If they went to a show on Sunday they'd have church and Sunday school first. They would grow up to be responsible citizens.

War reveals more "juvenile delinquency"—which is only a fancy word for weak and selfish parenthood. But there have always been unfit parents. The basic problem is with them.

Washington in Wartime
By HOWARD FLIEGER

WASHINGTON—Reporters on the White House beat were more than a little startled the other day when President Roosevelt unfolded his "Parable of the Two Doctors"—the A-B-C story he used to discard the New Deal tag in favor of a Win-The-War slogan.

One of the veterans called the conference "the best fireside chat the President ever gave." Many others expressed surprise at the performance. New hands at the business of covering the President wondered, a bit perplexed, what they'd gotten into. The reason for the reaction is obvious.

The President's story was an allegorical tale of how Dr. New Deal, called into the case in 1932 to treat the United States for internal illness, had now stepped aside for Dr. Win-The-War, a gent who knows all about bone surgery and external wounds which the patient suffered in the smash-up at Pearl Harbor.

THE subject was pure, unadulterated politics. In fact, the President himself so described it. And politics has been taboo at presidential press conferences since the war began. Any hint of political applications in recent questions has brought the questioner his prompt come-uppance for talking about such things in time of war.

But the President was expecting—and ready—to talk politics at the conference which produced "The Parable of the Two Doctors."

One simple question opened the monologue. Mr. Roosevelt—in obvious good humor—said the subject was puerile and political, but reporters knew at a glance he was all set to go into it fully. On the desk before him were three sheets of paper, a chronology of the doings of his administration since 1932. With little preliminary, he unfolded the story of the New Deal and why he thought it should step aside now for a Win-The-War slogan.

Only the scratching sound of pencils on note paper interrupted his voice as he reviewed the things he'd done since his first election. Occasionally he looked away from his own notes to take a crack at New Deal critics. For 15 minutes he talked on what had come to be a forbidden subject: politics.

SMALL wonder one reporter, at the end of the story, asked the President if the whole thing added up to a fourth-term declaration. The question probably was in every mind in the room.

It brought a momentary break in the presidential good humor (the President said the question was picaresque and had nothing to do with what he was talking about) but the reaction was milder than some of Mr. Roosevelt's listeners might have expected.

A few minutes later the reporters were filing out of the White House with a top political story scrawled into their hurried notes. No wonder some of them recalled the day four years ago when an inquiry about Mr. Roosevelt's third term intentions brought the presidential reply: the asker of such a question ought to do a dunces cap.

The cold snap has again fixed the ice in the Highhouse pond in good shape for skating and last night there were a large number enjoying this port on the ice.

A new school house will be built on Davy Hill soon to replace the one destroyed by fire a short time ago. In the meantime school is being held in the Free Methodist church on Davy Hill.

The Barnes school now boasts of a highway patrol. The pupils have been divided into three groups each of which will have one week of duty in rotation. The pupils show great interest in the project.

Arrangements have been completed by the Warren Elks meeting with the Hospital Board for a charity ball to be given in a short time. The hospital is in dire need of funds and the ball should raise a goodly amount.

Hollywood Gossip
By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — The screen's "vanishing Americans" this year won't be redskins. They'll be types that used to fill the screen in picture after picture but no longer have a place there.

You'll remember them. Pre-war relics. The sleek, wisecracking playboy, the lounge lizard, the never-do-well who used to balance a cocktail in one hand and a shaker in the other, pouring out flippant conversation and drinks. Then there was the poor little rich girl, the spoiled darling whose main problem in life was battling boredom, the giddy debutante, and the big town racketeer, with his gangs and guns.

They're all gone, lost or submerged in the realities of today. A movie director named Mark Sandrich was talking about just this the other day. Sandrich, since he entered pictures in 1929, had made nothing but comedies and musicals until last year. He directed Wheeler and Woolsey, Jack Benny, Bing Crosby, Fred Allen. He made some of the gayer Astaire-Rogers musicals. Then last year, as producer-director, he made that grim war picture, "So Proudly We Hail."

TODAY he's making another topical film, "I Love a Soldier." It deals with the problem of a girl's marrying a soldier sweetheart in war time. Should girl (Paulette Goddard) marry boy (Sonny Tufts) or just keep on being a lady vender?

"The war," remarked Mark, "has made the public want pictures that have something to say. It used to be that the safest course for a movie which counted for its appeal neither on music nor comedy was the boy-meets-girl formula. Now it isn't enough. People want to learn about concrete matters. Hollywood can do pictures about Madame Curie, Dr. Wassell, the Hitler Gang or Rogers' Rangers and tell the true stories of real people in real situations. This hunger to know is the result of every war."

IT may not be clear how Miss Goddard and Sonny Tufts, in a movie romance however topical, will give an answer universally applicable to the soldier-marrying problem, but Sandrich's point is that the problem is real and the movie tackles it. His next picture won't be serious at all—a light comedy musical about the WAVes with Tufts, Crosby, and Betty Hutton.

"It doesn't matter what type of picture you make," he said, "as long as your characters are real people of today. If your characters are phoney, if they aren't folks the theater-goer meets every day, you're on the wrong track. You can't do a picture about characters who existed before the war—the playboys, the idle society girls, the gangsters—but have passed out of being or become such a minority they don't count."

"Give Seven to Ten to the Service Men"

They're busy during the day. A few hours each night are about the only time they have to telephone. Wouldn't seem right if a casual call of yours held up a soldier's call back home.

Best way to avoid that is to play safe and not place any Long Distance call between 7 and 10 P. M. unless it is really urgent. Tonight and every night "give seven to ten to the service men."

COPPER GOT BOYS

Warren police over the weekend had their usual busy hours taking care of routine business but incidentally gathered up a couple of boys who had broken into a garage on Water street where they did about $20 damage. The boys will have their fathers foot the bill. A roomer in one of the city's rooming houses brought his girl friend with him but the proprietor objected and the roomer and gal were ousted and the man's clothing was held pending the settlement of a two weeks bit of room rent. An argument or two in beer parlors were settled and the tranquility of the staid town was unruffled.

During the entire 18 months following October, 1940, when the Army's first parachute battalion was formed, only two men were killed in the course of the thousands of jumps.

Saturday Rites in St. Joseph's Unite Florence Marian Scalise-Henry Juliano

At 11 a. m. Saturday in St. Joseph's church, Father Alfred M. Bauer united in marriage Florence Marian Scalise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scalise, 1319 Pennsylvania avenue, west, and Henry George Juliano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Juliano, 270 Ohio street, Union, N. J.

Mr. Scalise gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by Kaye L. Saraceno. The bride wore a gown of white tulle with a sweetheart neckline and long train. A diadem of crystal orange blossoms held her veil, which had a tiny lace motif and orange blossoms scattered over the entire cape and train. White roses formed her bouquet and her only jewelry was a gold cross. Miss Saraceno wore light blue taffeta, the bodice having a sweetheart neckline and a gold colored bow adorning the hoop skirt. Her hat of the same material was in Dutch style, with blue veiling and flowers, her slippers were of gold color and she carried yellow roses.

Frank M. Juliano, of Union, was his brother's best man.

The bride's mother wore a two piece crepe frock in rose and black and Mrs. Juliano wore blue wool, each having accessories in black and corsages of pink carnations.

A reception for 50 guests was held from five until seven in the evening at the bride's home. A color thought of white and silver was carried out with a three tiered wedding cake, white snapdragons, streamers and wedding bells. Mr. and Mrs. Juliano and son, Frank, were the out of town guests.

Following a wedding trip to New York, the newlyweds will reside at 270 Ohio street, Union, N. J. For traveling, the bride chose a melon color two piece wool gabardine suit with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Warren High School, Class of 1939, and has been employed as cashier at the J. C. Penney store. Parties for her have been given by her mother; her sister, Mrs. Frank Graziano; Mrs. Thomas Saraceno; Miss Julia Juliano; fellow employees at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Fino.

Mr. Juliano is a graduate of Union High School, Class of 1937, and spent two years at Union Junior College, majoring in music and being auditioned with Shep Fields' Orchestra. At present he is an instructor at the Western Electric Company in Kearney, N. Y.

National Forge - O'Connors Winners in YMCA League Contests Saturday Evening

TEAM STANDING

W.	L.	Pct.
Forge	7	1 .885
O'Connors	6	1 .858
Struthers	3	4 .429
Bakers	2	5 .284
Blomquist	0	7 .000

The National Forge combine galloped to an easy win over the Blomquist outfit from North Warren on Saturday evening in the "Y" league. Leading all the way they subdued the younger team by the score of 60-41. Dean Nelson again led the scoring with 20 points for the Irvinettes. Weidert took the honors for Blomquist with 17.

O'Connors had a little difficulty with the Struthers team but managed to crawl out from under 55-48. Nick Otto kept in the high scoring running with 25 points. Peterson was high for Struthers with 14 points. The game was fast and well played with some nice long shots by Korchak of O'Connors to break the monotony. Struthers displayed a new defense and attack by which they hoped to befuddle and confuse the Sheffield team. It worked for a while but the Irish finally found the combination and unlocked a terrific drive that carried them to victory. The final game in the first round will be played tonight. In the first O'Connors meets Bakers which should mean another win for them. Struthers stacks up against the Blomquist boys and this should give the fans some excitement and a good game to watch. If O'Connors wins, as they no doubt will, this will throw the first half into a tie between them and the Forge. This means a playoff will be necessary to determine the first round winner. When this comes off it will give the fans something to watch. In the first round each team took one and this caused the tie. The playoff will show who is the league's top scorer, Main: timer, Babcock.

Third Quarter Rally Gives Bracemen Fifth Win in Three Years

The mighty Bradford Owls, one of the most highly recognized teams in Pennsylvania, won their fifth straight contest in three years from the Warren High cagers Friday night, but were forced to the limit in the contest as they emerged 32 to 26 victors.

The Dragons momentarily stunned in the opening stanza, when Bradford ran up 11 points to their six, came back strong to threaten them all through the tilt.

Johnny Peckham and "Bubbles" Lloyd took the Bracemen's attack into their own hands in the opening session as they merged to bring in five field goals between them, all from the Dragon front court.

Peckham, after each team had handled the ball to no avail faked his way into position and tossed in a one-hander and was quickly followed by three in a row from his teammate, Lloyd, while McLean of Warren was offsetting the count from a lay-up shot, but Ellison's foul counter and another field goal by Peckham put the heated Owls in front at 11 to 2, as the locals called a time-out to regain their footing.

With only two minutes to go, Warren came right back and Dick Finley and Jim Eaton hit center for one apiece, while holding the enemy to nothing and brought in a first session score at 11 to 6.

Warren, given confidence by their sudden outburst, followed up their attack with 10 points in the second when McLean, Scalsie, Beyer and Finley all ripped the center of the hoop for a combined total of 10 points, while Peckham had three by Ellison, plus fielders from Peckham and McCullough. The Dragons had McLean and Finley to show their mentioned match was featured by the fact that Sheriff Linder led one of his highest scores, leading the Insurance agents with a 187 count. Karlson had high total for the team with 487. Decker was high for DeLuxe with a 216 score and his 549 was high for total. F. Rapp who has been going great guns this season, had high score in the other match, coming through with a 228 game, also having high total with 554. For the pop-drinkers, Vicander had high single with 192 while Maloney's 536 was high for total. The team totals:

Simonsens 684 792 678-2154
DeLuxe 746 915 825-2486
Warren Tank 722 779 742-2243
Soda Mineral 762 769 901-2462

The bowling committee has decided to continue through next Sunday the "tournament" which was started during the week-end. Because of the keen interest shown in the event and the fact that a number who wanted to enter were unable to roll their matches they will have an opportunity to do so Saturday afternoon and evening.

Warren Faces Top Contender For District Ten Honors At Oil City Tomorrow Night

Oil City, which is considered the top contender for District 10 honors will face the Warren Dragons in the local's fourth league game Tuesday night at the Oilers camp. Always turning out one of the best teams in the section, Oil City has a reputation for facing the Blue and White cagers this season and have won over some of the finest outfits in scholastic ball this season.

With victories over Farrell, Erie Academy, Franklin, and only losing to Bradford 30 to 28, in the last minute of play, the Oilers are a stumbling block for all District 10 teams this year.

Protest Over Open Season For Doe Filed

St. Marys, Jan. 24.—(P)—Sportsmen of six north central counties today prepared to carry to Governor Martin a charge that the Pennsylvania Game Commission was guilty of "unfair tactics" in connection with the Dec. 13-15 open deer season.

The charge was contained in a resolution adopted unanimously yesterday at the annual meeting of the North Central Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, comprising Cameron, Clearfield, Elk, Jefferson, McKean and Potter counties.

The 150 representatives at the meeting heard District Attorney Edwin W. Tompkins of Cameron county tell of unsuccessful efforts he made to press a Cameron County Rod and Gun Club petition against the deer season.

The petition, Tompkins said, was rejected after the Game Commission struck out a number of names of persons they declared "ineligible" to sign or who were said to have withdrawn their names.

Tompkins said he went to Harrisburg and asked a list of the stricken names but was refused by the commission. This refusal, he declared, made it impossible for him to check the correctness of the commission's action.

The meeting voted to authorize a committee to call upon Governor Martin and file a protest.

At a dinner held at Angle's Restaurant for the Pennsylvania Bottling Company employee study group, Sherman Kahle was congratulated by the secretary-tesaurer, William Gallagher, on his fine record of progress in the International Correspondence School course in mechanical engineering. L. E. Mr. Gallagher is to be commended for his foresight in thus preparing his employees for post-war conditions.

RECEIVES NAZI FLAG

Harry S. Baxter, Jr., of this city recently received a large Nazi flag from his friend, G. M. 3/c Andrew Rakiecki, of Kane. Mr. Rakiecki has been in the United States Navy a little over a year and a half, and has been on a transport ship most of the time, and it was while in this capacity he took part in the invasion of Italy. On October 1st, 1943, Mr. Rakiecki was on shore leave following the capture of the Old German garrisons at Naples by Allied forces. The Nazis evacuated the garrison leaving large quantities of supplies and equipment, and it was from this garrison the Nazi flag was taken. Mr. Baxter was not only pleased to receive the flag but was much more pleased to have the donor of the flag as his guest Sunday. Mr. Rakiecki is home on a short furlough with his parents in Kane.

German Officials

Reported to Be Leaving the Eternal City

(From Page One)

All telephone service between Rome and the north was reported closed both to civilians and Italian officials on order of the German military commander of the area. Neutrals were permitted to send only the briefest diplomatic dispatches from Rome.

(Associated Press dispatch from Stockholm quoted Swedish press reports from Switzerland as saying that the new Allied amphibious attack below Rome had inspired the populace in northern Italy to violent anti-German demonstrations. Two German officers were killed by demonstrators in Genoa, and the Nazis executed eight Italian youths in reprisal and imprisoned 20 more as hostages, these reports said.)

els and Messerschmitts which attempted to bomb ships off the beaches and shot down six Nazi bombers near Elba.

Nettuno was captured so quickly Saturday that the harbor installations were taken intact. Although the unloading capacity of this summer resort is small, as is that the small harbor of Anzio to the north, long stretches of beach can be used to pour in supplies and reinforcements as at Salerno last September.

Besides Nettuno, one other coastal town has been captured, front line dispatches reported, but its name was not given.

The whole Italian situation had developed into a race to see if the Allied amphibious force can straddle the Apennine Way and the via Cassilina 10 miles farther inland with sufficient strength to meet the Germans when they turn around from the Cassino front.

The day raiders took off shortly after dawn and headed in the direction of the Pas de Calais area in northern France, which was bombed by both British and American planes yesterday.

Coastal observers who saw the planes streaking out over southern England said they included waves of medium bombers escorted by many fighters. Some of the aircraft were seen returning from the direction of Boulogne, Dieppe and Calais 45 minutes later.

PUBLIC WORKS STRIKE

IN PHILLY CALLED OFF

Philadelphia, Jan. 24.—(P)—Public Works Department employees, who called off a 17 day strike on Saturday, today launched full scale operations to clean up more than 90,000 tons of trash and garbage that collected on city streets during their walkout.

When the workers called the walkout approximately 3,000 responded but business agent of Street Cleaning Local 427, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, (AFSE), William J. McEntee, said many would never return as they have accepted defense jobs and refuse to give them up.

The men voted 456 to 374 to accept a 6 to 6 1/2 cents an hour pay increase rather than continue the strike until their demands for a 10 cents an hour boost were met.

Sheffield Lost Tilt Friday On Wilcox Floor

Sheffield High School dropped a speedy basketball game Friday night at Wilcox when the Wilcox school took over by a score of 32 to 19. The Wilcox team now stands a good chance to head the Allegheny Mountain League provided Ridgway and Kane are not too strong. Ridgway on the same evening took over the St. Mary's team.

Grosbeaks Are Reported About County

Recently in the Times-Mirror mention was made of the appearance at Baum in Venango county of several grosbeaks which at one time were seen in Warren county. It was asked that if anyone saw the rare birds to report. In the mails over the week end two reports came in of the birds being seen in this section.

Mrs. S. E. Saylor, 6 Myrtle street, says that a flock of about 25 grosbeaks have been holding forth in the vicinity of Myrtle and Redwood streets off and on during the winter. Mrs. Saylor was not familiar with the birds but secured a good description of them and called the high school where some persons identified the birds. Twenty-five were counted in one day and Mrs. Saylor says she thinks the birds roost among the pine trees on the Allen property in the vicinity. Bird lovers should view the birds and make the identification complete.

Mrs. R. M. Pratt, of Kinzua, writes an entertaining letter relative to the grosbeaks, saying: having read your article in Friday's paper concerning the "Evening Grosbeaks" I thought it might be interesting to learn that I saw a flock of them here during December. They were here for about two weeks and fed on the seeds of a box elder tree nearby. I watched them many times on the lawn and in the apple trees where they picked at the apples still hanging on the trees and in looking up their description in my bird book I found that these grosbeaks consider apple seeds a great delicacy. "There are many interesting birds here and at present I am feeding a flock of 18 bluejays. They present a gorgeous spectacle with their brilliant plumage."

The Evening Grosbeak has been a rare bird in this section for many years but at one time they were here in considerable numbers. Bird lovers are greatly interested.

Broadcast is Planned For "March of Dimes"

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
New York, Jan. 24—(P)—The annual broadcast in which "America salutes the president's birth" as the climax to the infantile paralysis March of Dimes drive is being lined up for Saturday night on all networks. It will be in the hour at 11:15, with Mr. Roosevelt speaking briefly as usual.

This year Frank Sinatra is included in the talent along with Bob Hope, Lily Pons, Paul Whiteman and Dinah Shore among others. The bands, the U. S. Marine and the Santa Ana, Calif., Air Force Training Command, also are to be heard.

This program has been a January event since the president took office. He will be 62 years old January 30.

Williams Has Big Stake In Tuesday's Bout

By CHARLES WELSH
Philadelphia, Jan. 24—(P)—Boxing fans will find it easy to forgive Ike Williams if he is just a little out of breath when he hops into the ring at Convention Hall tomorrow night to tangle with Bob Montgomery. Ike has climbed a long way up the hill toward boxing fame, and he may reach the peak against Robert, who held briefly last fall the New York-Pennsylvania version of the world lightweight championship. Williams, the terror from Trenton, N. J., has hurled 32 consecutive opponents since he last lost a bout. Many fight experts believe he'll clear Montgomery as easily as some of the other obstacles that have been put in his path, although Bob is a 9-5 favorite, will have a 3-pound weight edge.

In fact, the lithe, dark-skinned 23-year-old Ike is rated by some in the profession as already the unofficial champ. No less an authority than Charlie Jones, manager of NBA Lightweight Champ Sammy Angott, remarked last week that Ike "is the best fighter in Stillman's"—at a time when both Williams and Angott were training in the New York gym.

The Montgomery bout will be Ike's first step into the big money. By a somewhat strange quirk he has fought his way nearly to the top of his class without throwing a punch in Madison Square Garden.

Many of his strongest backers are in Philadelphia. Montgomery's home town and the city where Rapier Robert has become the biggest drawing card since Lew Teller, as a result, some 20,000 are expected to pay upwards of $50,000 to see the pair in action over the 12-round route.

Slugging Bout This Evening At Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24—(P)—Gus Dorazio, Philadelphia heavyweight with a string of 10 consecutive victories to his credit, and Curtis (Hatchet Man) Sheppard of Pittsburgh, who has won six in a row, promise to slug it out in their ring encounter here tonight.

Because of his experience against such luminaries as Joe Louis, Billy Conn, Bob Pastor, Nate Bolden, Lem Franklin, Harry Bobo and others, Dorazio is a slight favorite with the fans, odds on him ranging from 6 to 5 to 9 to 5.

Sheppard, however, has quite a following who think he will chill rested at their reported return and it is to be hoped that they can be protected and will again make their home here.

Rehearsal Of Bands Tonight Will Be Open

Tonight's open rehearsal, with the V. F. W. band, is expected to provide a very interesting evening for local band musicians. Beginning at 7:30, there will be a rehearsal covering varied types of band music, especially chosen for the occasion, with interesting parts for every section of the band. After the rehearsal, coffee and doughnuts will be served, and there will be an opportunity for talking things over.

There is no charge for participants, and there will be no collection taken. This is just a get-together, in which there is provision for both playing and talking, and one which gives both the members of the various bands an opportunity to get better acquainted with each other, and those who play, but are not now members of any of the bands, an opportunity to sit in and find out how they like playing band music. Quite a few men who have limited their efforts to dance music hesitate to tackle the regular band music. Tonight will provide an excellent opportunity for them to see for themselves how the two types of music compare, although it must be pointed out that the term "band music" covers and includes a considerable variety of music types.

As previously noted in this paper, it is intended that if this open rehearsal proves as popular as it is expected to be there will be a continuous series of such rehearsals each sponsored by one of the local bands.

Remember this evening—Time: 7:30 p. m. Place: Band Room, third floor, V. F. W. Building. Admission: Just bring your instrument along.
